INDEX.

A

Afghanistan, English expedition into, 270, et seq.—notice of Afghanistan as a state, 274—its internal policy, 275.
Africa, Spanish conquests in the North of, 11.
Air, importance of the amount and purity of, in prolonging life, 69.
Alexander the Great, Mr. Grote's character of, 308, et seq.—his five chroniclers, 308-9—his history, 314, et seq.
Alva, Duke of, and his government of the Netherlands, 28.
Architecture, review of Fergusson's 'Handbook' of, 112—architecture of past generations, 112—India, 116—three primitive types of architectural development, 120—architecture of China, 123—of Egypt, 124—of Greece, 127—of Rome, 131—Gothic, 132—theory of the dome, 138—definition of architecture, 139—future English styles, 140.
Arrian, remarks on his account of Alexander the Great, 308, et seq.
Assaye, General Wellesley's account of the battle of, 410.
Assurances, Life, origin and growth of, 55.
Athanasius, Festal Letters of, 433, et seq.
Atlantic Ocean, physical geography of the, 360—the Atlantic electric telegraph, 383.
Auto-de-fé of Valladolid, 24-5.

B

Bailey, Thomas, review of his 'Records of Longevity,' 46, et seq.
Barante, M. de, review of his 'Histoire du Directoire de la République Française,' 205, et seq.
Belgium under Spain, compared with the Belgium of our own times, 12.
Boswell, Letters of, review of the, 456, et seq.—history of the publication of the letters, 458—review of 'Boswelliana,' 460—sketch of the life of Boswell, 461.
Boyne, battle of the, 156—the MS. in the Littlecote collection relating to the, 156.
Braxfield, Lord Justice Clerk, anecdotes of, 234, et seq.—his charge on Muir's Trial, 237, note.

C

Carlos, Don, son of Philip II. of Spain, 30.
Carstairs, and Scotch affairs, 168.
Catherine de Medicis, her character, 35.
Census, the, of the United Kingdom, 55—the, of Vespasian, 60—the, of the United States, 61-2—quinquennial, of France, 342.

China, architecture of, 123—British relations with, 518, et seq.—the quarrel with Yeh, 519—Chinese character, 527—and civilisation, 530.
Clark, Dr. George, notice of, 156—his MS. on the war in Ireland preserved at Littlecote, 156.
Cockburn, Henry, review of his 'Memorials of his Time,' 218, et seq.—personal notices of him, 220, et seq.
Conington, John, M.A., review of his 'Academical Study of Latin,' 493.
Convocation, review of works relating to, 78—possible consequences of the reassumption of the functions of, 78-106—incompetence of, 85—right of the laity to a voice in the decisions of, 90-91—proceedings of the Convocations of 1854, 5, and 6, 97-100—suggestions for diocesan synods, 102.
Cureton, William, M.A., review of his 'Festal Letters of Athanasius,' 433.
Curtius, Quintus, his account of Alexander the Great, 309, et seq.
Curzon, Hon. Robert, his visit to the Convent of the Valley of the Natron Lake, 441.

D

Dilettanti Society, notices of the, 493, et seq.
Diodorus, his account of Alexander the Great, 309, et seq.
Directory, French, state of society under the, 205, et seq.
Divorce, review of works relating to, 181—the bill of 1856, 182—divorce in the early Christian Church, 183—and since the Reformation, 183-4—M. de Portalis on Divorce in the Conseil d'Etat, 185—public opinion respecting, 187—grounds for obtaining, 188.
Ducancel, M., his play of 'Les Aristides Modernes,' 208-10.

E

Egypt, architecture of, 124.
Elizabeth, Queen of England, and Philip II. of Spain, 6-7.
England, causes of her success in establishing a free government, 16—her policy and destiny compared with that of Spain, 32—human longevity in, 63—'History of,' by the Right Hon. T. B. Macaulay, reviewed, 142.
Exercises of the body, in respect to longevity, considered, 72.
Exeter, bishop of, and his synod, 103.

F

Fergusson, James, review of his 'Illustrated Handbook of Architecture,' &c., 112, et seq.
Ferrier, J. P., review of his 'Caravan Journeys and Wanderings in Persia, Afghanistan, Turkistan, and Beloochistan,' &c., 266, et seq.
Flanders, state of, under Spanish rule, 3.
Flourens, M., review of his 'De la Longévité Humaine, et de la Quantité de Vie sur le Globe,' 46, et seq.

Food, remarks on, in connexion with longevity, 70—71.
France, and Philip II. of Spain, 8-9—her vicissitudes and inconstancies of the last three centuries, 13-15—her policy and destiny compared with that of Spain, 34—state of French society under the Directory, 205, et seq.—remarks on the quinquennial census of the French empire, 342, et seq.—rural emigration to Paris, 344—French speculation on the Bourse, 345—slow rate of increase of the population, 349—and its consequences, 351—rise of the price of lodgings and rents in Paris, 353—numerical strength of the population of the empire, 356—taxes in the towns and taxes in the country, 358—conscription, 358.

G

Gaza, siege of, by Alexander the Great, 336.
Gladstone, Right Hon. W. E., his character, 560.
Glencoe, Mr. Macaulay's account of the massacre of, 170—the real history of the affair, 171.
Goncourt, Messrs. de, review of their 'Histoire de la Société Fran-'çaise pendant le Directoire,' 205, et seq.
Greece, architecture of, 127.
Grote, George, Esq., review of his 'History of Greece,' 305.
Gulf Stream, Lieut. Maury's account of the, 370.

H

Henry IV. of France, his character and policy, 36.
Herat, siege of, in 1837, 284—ascendancy of Persia at, 286—treaty of Colonel Sheil, 288—rebellion in, 295—march of the Persians on, 297—besieged and taken by the Persians, 300.
Hong Kong, its defects as a colony, 540.
Horner, Francis, and Sydney Smith, 240-1.
Husband and Wife, rights and liabilities of, 181, et seq.
Husson, Alfred, review of his 'Les Consommations de Paris,' 342.

I

India, architecture of, 116—affairs of, 266. 400, et seq.—trade of, in opium, 544.
Inquisition, the, in Spain, 25-6—the holy office abolished in the Netherlands, 27.
Ireland, events in, at the beginning of the reign of William III., 155, et seq.

J

Johnson, Dr. Samuel, and James Boswell, 457, et seq.
Jones, Sir Harford, his mission to Persia, 408.
Justin, his account of Alexander the Great, 309, et seq

K

Kames, Lord, anecdote of, 235.
Kane, Dr., review of his 'Arctic Explorations in the Years 1853, '1854, and 1855,' 360.

Kaye, John William, review of his 'Life and Correspondence of Sir John Malcolm, G.C.B.,' &c., 391, et seq.
Kerhallet, Philippe de, review of his 'Considérations Générales sur 'l'Ocean Atlantique,' 360.

L

Letters, Revival of, and the Christianity of the 15th Century, 18-19.
Littlecote, Dr. George Clark's MS. on the war in Ireland preserved at, 156.
Longevity, Human, review of works relating to, 46, et seq.—hypothesis respecting the elements of life and the constant quantity of life on the globe, 48-9—speculative doctrines of the measure of life, 50-1 — epiphysis, 51-2 — instances of longevity, 52-3 — longevity, desirable or not? 75.

M

Macaulay, the Right Hon. T. B., review of his 'History of England,' 142.
Macedonia, Mr. Grote's treatment of the history of, 306—ethnical relation between the Greek and Macedonian people, 317.
Macqueen's 'Rights and Liabilities of Husband and Wife' reviewed, 181.
Mai, Cardinal, and the Festal Letters of Athanasius, 433.
Malcolm, Sir John, review of Kaye's 'Life' of, 391, et seq.—personal notices of him, 392, et seq.—his career, 399, et seq.
'Mar de Sargasso,' remarks on the, 375.
Mary, Queen of William III. of England, 153.
Maury, Lieut., review of his 'Physical Geography of the Sea,' 360, et seq.
Meadows, M. S. Taylor, review of, his 'Chinese and their Rebellions,' 518, et seq.
Motley, J. L., review of his 'Rise of the Dutch Republic,' 1, et seq. See Philip II.
Murray, Hon. C., sent to Teheran, 293—his departure, and its causes, 296-7.

N

Natron Lakes, valley of the, and the ascetics, 438.
Netherlands, the, under Spain, and the Netherlands of our own time, contrasted, 12—rebellion and the reformation in, 26, et seq.
Norton, Mrs., her 'Letter to the Queen,' reviewed, 181.

O

Opium trade, considerations on the, 544.
Oven, B. Van, M.D., review of his 'Decline of Life in Health and Disease,' 46, et seq.

P

Pacho, M., his Syrian MSS., 445.
Palmerston, Lord, and the Parliament of 1857, 562, et seq.

Paoli, General, 467.
Parliament of 1852, review of the, 552—causes of the dissolution of the, 558—the new parliament, 571.
Parliamentary Committees and Railway Legislation, 242, et seq.—letter from Lord Redesdale respecting the article on, 578.
Persepolis, destruction of the palace of, by Alexander the Great, 337.
Persia, India, and Afghanistan, 266, et seq.—ascendancy of Persia, at Herat, 286—treaty obtained by Colonel Sheil, 288—the outrage on the British mission, 291—Persia and Russia, 292, et seq.—the 'Mrs. Hashem affair,' 296—departure of Mr. Murray, 297—siege and capture of Herat, 300—war declared by Great Britain against Persia, 301—Malcolm's 'History of the Persian Monarchy,' 406.
'Philip II. and his Times, by W. H. Prescott,' review of, 1—Philip's dominions, 2-3—his character, 4-5—his connexion with England, 6-9. See Spain.
Piron, and the French troops in India, 404.
Plutarch, his account of Alexander the Great, 309, et seq.
Prescott, W. H., review of his 'History of the Reign of Philip II.,' 1, et seq. See Philip II.
Railway Legislation, 242, et seq. See Parliamentary Committees.

R

Redesdale, Lord, and the Standing Order Committee of the House of Lords, 256, et seq.—letter from, to the Edinburgh Review, 578.
Roumania, present condition of, 419—question of the union of the Principalities, 420—characteristics of the Rouman race, 421—General Kisseleff's organisation of the provinces, 424—our opinion of the Roumans, 425—the proposed system of government, 426—Rouman peasantry, 428.
Russell, Lord John, and the Chinese question, 566.

S

Schomberg, Duke of, his death, as narrated by Dr. George Clark, 157.
Scotland, condition of, and events in, at the commencement of the reign of William III., 162, et seq.
Scottish Lawyers and English critics, 218, et seq.
Spain, in the 15th and 16th centuries, 1, et seq.—state of Spain at the death of Philip II., 7-9—causes of the decline of the power of Spain, 10, et seq.—compared with Belgium, the Netherlands, France, and England, 12-16—the policy and destiny of Spain, England, and France, compared, 19, et seq. See Philip II.
Syriac MSS., collection of, in the British Museum, 434.
Syud Mahomed, of Herat, 289—killed, 295.

T

Tattam, Dr., and the Syrian MS. of Athanasius, 442.
Thirlwall, Bishop, his fairness in his 'History of Greece,' 313.
Thomson, Mr., and the British mission at Teheran, 291.
Tyre, conquest of, by Alexander the Great, 334.

W

Wellesley, Marquis of, and Indian affairs, 402, et seq.
Wellington, Duke of, and Sir John Malcolm, 395, et seq.
William III., King of England, portrait of, as drawn by Mr. Macaulay, 144—his landing, 145—his anxieties, 148—Queen Mary, 153—the battle of the Boyne, 156-7—William's measures for the suppression of the opposition of the Irish, 160—and of the Scotch, 168—his qualifications as a general and a diplomatist, 180.
William, Prince of Orange, and Philip II. of Spain, 26, et seq.
Women, married, and their rights of property, 191, et seq.

Y

Yar Mahomed of Herat, 284.
Yuzoof Khan of Herat, 295, et seq.

END OF VOL. CV.

London: Printed by SPOTTISWOODE & Co., New-street Square.

XUM